LITERATURE:

This very example was the one worn by Torun for the famous picture appearing in the book 'Conversations with Torun' by Karin Westin (ed. Carlsson) and in 'the Lunning Prize' exhibition catalogue published by the Swedish National Museum.

AWARDS:

Lunning Prize, 1960.

Gold Medal at the Milan Triennale, 1961.

Extracts of Torun's book:

"The Lunning prize went to someone who had pioneered a unique artistic contribution". It was first awarded in 1951, on 21st December, which was Frederik Lunning's birthday. He has devoted a lot of effort to arousing American interest in Scandinavian design. It was in the form of a travelling scholarship- to enable a young craftsman to gain inspiration from other cultures.

...One day in 1960, H. O. Gummerus and Marie Gullichsen arrived at my home in Biot to announce that had never even heard of the award before, but of course I was delighted, and, unlike other recipients of it I used the prize money for a trip to Sweden.

The last Lunning prizes were given during the seventies. Today the Georg Jensen Prize is awarded biannually in Copenhagen."
