

Stool designed by Calle Warfvinge,
Sweden. Contemporary.

Ash.

Unique.

This contemporary Swedish stool is a work of unparalleled craftsmanship. Calle Warfvinge carefully chose the individual wooden components to achieve a decorative effect. The overlapping, intertwined legs are carved from solid ash wood with through tenon joints that create a decorative pattern on the surface of the seat. The piece is both beautiful and sturdy.

Calle Warfvinge is from Skåne, the southernmost county of Sweden, and his love for nature pervades all his designs. Initially a boat builder, he now mainly produces wooden furniture that stands out because of its exceptional quality. Warfvinge uses only the finest quality of wood that grows in the forests where he lives.
